SUMMARY

25X1A Tula Training Area Kostrovo is located 23 kilometers (km) north-northwest of Tula on both sides of the Tula-Serpukhov highway (Figure 1). The Tula Army Barracks Kostrovo (BE No [REDACTED]) has two category codes reported in the BE/TDI listings. One category is for a barracks area; however, no barracks are identified. The other category is for an associated training area.

25X1D The area covers approximately 4,400 acres and contains a large bivouac area with an administration building, 34 quarters, and 163 support buildings; 2 secured storage areas with 7 storage and 2 support buildings; and a secured ammunition storage area with 3 revetted buildings and 2 support buildings. The training facilities include 3 athletic fields, 7 small-arms firing ranges with 3 support buildings, an artillery battery, an infantry field-training area, and a probable infantry field-training area with 7 support buildings, a possible mortar training area, 2 subcaliber weapons moving-target firing ranges with 7 range-support buildings, and a possible jump tower with an associated support building. Three other range support buildings, 2 barracks/administration buildings, 2 support buildings, and a secured area with 3 support buildings, and a large U-shaped revetment are all located in the training area (Figure 2).

The area was covered by [REDACTED] KEYHOLE missions between [REDACTED] 25X1D Very light winter activity was observed with only moderate activity discernible on summer coverage. Three small-arms firing ranges and the possible mortar range were first observed on [REDACTED] 25X1D photography. The artillery battery was added between [REDACTED] 25X1D
